Qualified real property interest" is defined in IRC Section 170(h). A "gift of land for conservation" is a charitable contribution of fee simple title property conveyed for conservation purposes as defined in Section 170(h)(4)(A) to a qualified conservation organization as described in Section 170(h)(3). See OTHER INFORMATION below.

Note: Transferees begin at line 6.

Note: IRC Section 267 attribution rules apply in computing per acre and per taxpayer limitation.

OTHER INFORMATION

Donative Intent

Pursuant to SC Code Section 12-6-3515(B)(1)(c), no credit is allowed unless the contribution meets the requirements of IRC Section 170 and SC Code Section 12-6-5590. Property used for or associated with the playing of golf, or is planned to be so used or associated, is not eligible for the credits allowed by this section.

Pursuant to SC Code Section 12-6-5590, no credit is allowed for a contribution unless the donor has the donative intent required by IRC Section 170 and the regulations and cases interpreting Section 170.

No credit is allowed for any noncash charitable contribution in the claimed amount of $100,000.00 or more unless the donor has the requisite donative intent required by this section.

The requisite donative intent includes the requirement that the donor be motivated by detached and disinterested generosity benefiting a charitable purpose rather than expected economic benefit.

A noncash charitable contribution by a donor given to comply with any state or federal environmental or other regulatory requirement; for the purpose of obtaining road, water, or sewer services; or in conjunction with obtaining a grant, subdivision, building, zoning, environmental, mitigation, or similar permit or approval from any government, is deemed not to have the requisite donative intent absent extraordinary circumstances.

The department will examine the substance, rather than merely the form, of the contribution and related and surrounding transactions, and may use the step transaction, economic reality, quid pro quo, personal benefit, and other judicially developed doctrines in determining whether the requisite donative intent is present.

Forestry and Silvicultural Practices

Notwithstanding the provisions of IRC Section 170(h) and applicable regulations pertaining to forestry and silviculture practices, you are not disqualified for the tax credit allowed in this section because of silviculture and forestry permitted or undertaken pursuant to a conservation contribution on a real property interest if:

(a) the forestry and silviculture practices permitted by or undertaken pursuant to the conservation contribution conform to Best Management Practices established by the South Carolina Forestry Commission existing either at the time the conservation contribution is made, or at the time a particular forestry or silvicultural practice is undertaken;

(b) the conservation contribution on a real property interest in all other respects conforms to the requirements of IRC Section 170(h) and applicable regulations for a "qualified conservation contribution" of a "qualified real property interest" and

(c) you provide the Department of Revenue with the information it considers necessary to determine that you would otherwise be eligible for the deduction allowed under Section 170(h).

The amount of the credit is twenty-five (25%) percent of the contribution that would have qualified but for the silvicultural and forestry activities performed on the real property interest, subject to the conditions and limitations as the credit allows in this section.

Attribution Rules

IRC Section 267 attribution rules apply in computing per acre and per taxpayer limitation.
